thwacked vigorously in the head that last story of a secret treaty with Mexico for a coaling station on Magdalena Bay. There are some mysteries about the Administration's dealings with Japan, mysteries that a lot of people would like to see cleared up, but these should not be confounded with the war scare pure and simple, which has been thru some exceedingly vigorous stunts during the last four or five months.

It is now generally accepted in Washington that this latest Japanese war scare, which fared forth so horribly of a recent morning, with many details about Embassador Wilson discovering the secret treaty between Mexico and Japan, rushing to Washington to acquaint President Taft and the Cabinet, and the immediate orders to troops to proceed to the Mexican horder, was conceived and written right here in Washington. Strangely enough, almost identical stories were dated from Mexico City and others from San Antonio. mustered out at Victoria, Tex., Dec. 19, 1895.
George W. Malcolm, of Pittsfield, Mass., claims to have been the youngest boy who enlisted from that section of Massachusetts as a private carrying a musket. He enlisted at the age of 14 years and 10 months in Co. K. 34th Mass. He served for three years, and was engaged in 18 battles. Mahlon H. Maxim, Governeut, N. Y. Claims to be one of the youngest veterans of the war of the rebellion. He was born in Champion, N. Y., May 30, 1856, and enlisted Oct. 14, 1864, in Co. H. 186th N. Y. He was in five battles, the last being the capturing of Petersburg, where he was wounded by two musket balls, in his ankle, from which he has never recovered.

P. A. Munson, Commander, Sanford Post, 473, Nicholsville, N. Y., whites: "I believe we have the youngest soldier here who carried a gun in the war of the rebellion. William Bastin was born Dec. 28, 1858, and enlisted Sept. 14, 1864. He was in front of Petersburg and in three fights before he Petersburg and in three fights before he was 12 years old." Comrade Munson thinks there are not many who can beat this re-boys of '64 and '65, and with much less to cat, and it is plain to see that the youngest soldler of '64 and '65 is entitled to first merit. "I enilsted in Co. I, 1st Conn. Cav. Jan. 5, 1864, was discharged June 22, 1865, and was born at Springfield. Mass., Jan. 12, 1848. Therefore, i was not 16 years old until seven days after the date of my cullstment. So Comrades Rassell and Holderfield are 'sting' on that line."

James A. Bosworth, Co. G. 46th Pa., thinks that Comrade Watkins will have to take off his hat to him. Comrade Bosworth was born in Wharton Township, Potter Co., Pa., June 28, 1849, and enlisted Feb. 22, 1864. He was in the battles of Resaca, Ezra Church, Culp's Farm and two other skirmishes before he was 15 years old. He was in the battle of Penchtree Creek, July 20, 1864, and in the siege of Atlanta.
